

Close Window

Print this page

John Pilmaier from Milwaukee, left, and Peter Isely of the SNAP bureau (Survivors Network of those Abused by Priests) show pictures of Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger now Pope Benedict XVI, left, and of father Lawrence Murphy, as they stage a press conference in front of The Vatican Thursday, March 25, 2010. SNAP members denounce Benedict's handling of the case that involved father Murphy, who died in 1998, accused of molesting some 200 deaf boys as he worked at the former St. John's School for the Deaf in St. Francis from 1950 to 1975. Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger's deputy at the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, ruled that the alleged molestation had occurred too long ago and that the accused priest, Rev. Lawrence Murphy, should instead repent and be restricted from celebrating Mass outside of his home diocese. (AP Photo/Pier Paolo Cito)

Click for more of the best photojournalism:

Photo Credit: AP Photo

Most Viewed Photos (12:00 p.m. ET)

- Betty Mae Kramer led voluntarism efforts in Montgomery in the late 1980s.
- Photo - 03/23/2010
- Two happy couples express their enthusiasm as the District begins taking applications for marriage licenses from same-sex couples. At top are Jeremy Ames, left, and Taka Ariga. Above are Cuc Vu, left, and Gwen Migita.

Advertisement

"Ho curato i miei denti gialli!"

Scopri il trucco di una mamma per eliminare il giallo dai denti e renderli più bianchi.

Scopri di più

Hai i denti gialli?

Ci vuole un minuto per rendere i denti bianchi a casa grazie al trucco di una mamma!

Scopri di più